

Resident Communication

You may want to consider using the below on your website and in your resident communication. Or, of course, you can create your own – what the National Social Housing Safety & Compliance Week means to your organisation and your residents.

We are committed to supporting the National Social Housing Safety & Compliance Week 21-25 June 2021. This is an annual event, dedicated to shining a spotlight on safety and compliance at all levels within Social Housing. By working positively together, we can create a better future, with a focus on safety culture and raising safety and compliance standards in homes managed by social landlords. In the four years since the Grenfell disaster, many lessons have been learned and progress is being made but, we feel collectively, more could be done, today.

We have always taken your safety seriously, but this Week, and beyond, is about what more we can all do now, to avert potential disasters of the future by committing to small and large actions today and tomorrow.

This is the Pledge we have made, to help keep you safe in your home:

[state your pledge].

To see what other social landlords and residents have pledged and to find out more, see here: www.safetyandcomplianceweek.co.uk

You may want to make your own pledge - how can you help to keep yourself, your family and your neighbours safe?
